Headquartered in South Carolina, this legal client wanted to reflect its West Coast culture while embracing its southern roots in its new 12,000-square-foot workplace. Combining warm woods and opulent stone finishes with rich dark carpets is a nod to tradition. Incorporating sit-stand desks and continuous glass storefronts at the perimeter that let the California sun filter in, embraces the environment’s openness and well-being. The offices include a Skyfold wall, which, opened or closed, creates a flexible conferencing center. Playful light fixtures and a variety of seating options make the lounge an inviting spot for a break or a relaxed meeting.
